Take Off the Fat Where It Shows

Most women suffer much humiliation because of great quantities of fat so located that, no matter how they dress, everybody sees that they are abnormal. This is the day of the slender figure, and fat women are simply not tolerated either in business or social affairs. Women may not know it, but men when they see a fat woman pass them on the street or in public places make all manner of sympathetic remarks about her. They do not mean to be unkind or to seem unkind, but it is natural for a man to dislike fat on a woman. Where fat shows the most there is where it must be removed, and as quickly as possible. This season's dresses seem to be made for the fat woman's misery and the slender woman's delight. They expose all the charms of woman and her ugliness as well. Exercise and diet will not remove fat. This has been proved. The famous Marmola prescription, which has met with such phenomenal success and has so many of our society women as its sponsors, is now being sold in tablet form to meet the demand of the public for this style of treatment. These little tablets go into your system just like food. They stop the stomach and digestive apparatus from producing fat and reduce the fat upon the body at the rate of about 12 to 15 ounces a day. They are harmless and can be carried in your purse and taken even after you have indulged in a hearty meal away from home. They are sold at all drug stores at 75 cents a case, or if you prefer you may write the Marmola Company, Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich.

in cells in the Flatbush court, suspected of being Black Handers. Inspector Owen Egan of the Bureau of Combustibles is examining what is alleged to be a bomb found in the possession of the three, and when they are arranged in court again next Tuesday he will be present to tell what he found. The prisoners declare there is nothing but sand in the bomb and profess that the whole affair was a practical joke. It didn't look like a joke to Policemen Berenick and Flood of the Parkville station, however, when they saw the three men enter a lot at Fourteenth avenue, between Third and Fourth streets, Brooklyn, about 6:30 o'clock last night and bury something. When the three men departed the policemen hastily dug up the object and found what looked like a bomb. Leaving Flood to bury it again, Berenick followed and saw the men inspect Michael Salino's barber shop at No. 32 Gravesend avenue. Then they returned to the lot. Berenick, far ahead of the bomb, followed, and the policemen hiding in the bushes saw the men dig up the bomb. Then the three started back toward the barber shop. Berenick followed, while Flood ran around the block, commanding an automobile and headed the men off. The policemen grabbed them in front of Salino's shop.

POLICEMEN TO USE THEIR NIGHTSTICKS FREELY.
The three fought desperately and Berenick and Flood subdued them only after vigorous use of their night sticks. They took them to the station and then went to Salino's house at No. 1330 Forty-third street and conducted him to the station. At sight of Lomongino, Salino cringed, crying that Lomongino was a Black Hand and that he would be killed for identifying him.

Then sheer terror let him courage and he sprang at Lomongino, who is a giant in stature. Several policemen had to drag him off.

Salino said that Lomongino had come to him several times with proposals to buy his business, but he refused to sell. Then he began to get Black Hand letters demanding $1,000, which he was to bring to the Manhattan end of the Brooklyn bridge. He was told he would be blown up if he refused. On Tuesday night Salino kept the appointment with Detective McDonough of the Parkville station, but no one appeared to collect the money. Wednesday, however, a second letter came, and Wednesday night Salino and McDonough stood in Park Row for hours without seeing anyone who looked like a Black Hand.

EACH HELD IN HEAVY BOND FOR TRIAL TUESDAY.

Lomongino was charged with having a bomb in his possession and Camillo with attempted extortion. Colletto was charged only with being a suspicious person, but Magistrate Miller, in the Flatbush Court, held each in $5,000 bail for trial on Tuesday.

add he lived at No. 25 East Eleventh street and Colletto at No. 17 Lafayette street, each in Manhattan. Lomongino has long been suspected by the police of being a Black Hand leader. On Oct. 11, when Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty made his Black Hand roundup, a man named Silvera was arrested in Lomongino's heavy stable in East Eleventh street. Two dynamite bombs were found in a manger.

Say They Found Evidence
Miss Turner Was Attacked.

CHARLESTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 21.—To the unshaken story told the day before by Miss Kate Turner against the wealthy gentleman farmer and horseman, E. Graham Wilson, whom she accuses of an assault of a character that carries a death penalty in this State, if the jury so recommends, there has been added the corroborative testimony of the three physicians who attended Miss Turner after the alleged crime. Women of her own family also took the stand against him.

What Wilson's defense will be has not been announced. The possibility that he might charge that the accusation grew out of hysterical delusions on the part of the crippled spinster seems destroyed by the evidence given yesterday by Dr. J. M. Neill, the Turner family physician; Dr. R. E. Vennine and Dr. C. Skinner, who assisted Dr. Neill in the examination.

They testified that there was indubitable evidence of mistreatment and that there were deep bruises on the body and limbs of Miss Turner.

In her testimony Wednesday Miss Turner told how she had agreed, on the urging of Wilson's wife, with whom she had long been friends, to ride with Wilson to a lonely farm where he said he desired to see some blooded cattle. On the ride, she said, he spoke improperly to her and when she demanded that he drive her back to his home immediately he had instead leaped from the carriage and dragged her out of it.

Between 6 and 7 o'clock that night she told her sister, Miss Emma Turner, what had occurred. Miss Turner testified to that effect yesterday, and Miss Orla Tomlinson, her aunt, told of arranging to have Dr. Neill see her niece, and of the arrangements for the examination a week later.

STALL FAILS AND THREE ARE JAILED FOR LARCENY

When two men appeared a block away from Policeman Cookley's fixed post at Greenwich and West Eleventh streets early to-day and began to shout curses at each other and give evidence of wanting to fight Cookley became suspicious that they were acting as stalls. He stuck to his post and kept his eyes open. He saw two men sneak out of Glassheim's express office at No. 21 West Eleventh street and into the hallway in the rear of a saloon at No. 750 Greenwich street. Just then Cookley's relief partner appeared and Cookley went into the hallway.

He found the two men in an argument with Jeremiah Cummings, the proprietor of the saloon. All three were placed under arrest. In a vacant room on the second floor sixty-eight overcoats that had been stolen from Glassheim's express office were found. Robert Furus and John Smith were the names given by the two prisoners. Cookley had seen crossing the street. Police Headquarters records show that they are graduates of the city reformatory.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION
Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes—Most Women Can Have Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician.

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets; you will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter that one's system collects.

If you have a pale face, sunken look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headache, a listless, no good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasant results.

Thousands of women, as well as men, take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets now, and then just to keep in the pink of condition. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful medicine for biliousness, indigestion and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Co., Columbus, Ohio. All druggists.
